

Name: Meghavi Mashar

Training scheme: London School of Radiology North Central and North East

Training hours: Full-time

Speciality: None at the moment as junior trainee

Run-Through vs Academic: Run-through

Meg is a trainee who came into radiology straight from her academic foundation years in Oxford. She is passionate about medical education, having taught medical students for over seven years and currently continuing to teach for two Oxford colleges. Meg has hosted multiple courses to help people with AFP applications and more recently the BIR Top Tips Course. She is currently enjoying her radiology training at UCL and is happy to answer any questions you may have!